

2016 Handicap Policy for Budweiser Championship Series

The Handicap System used for the Budweiser Championship Series Divisions has been changed for 2016.

Competitors will draw for their starting positions in the heat races and the feature lineup will be set by the finishing order of the heat races. Once a competitor has won a feature event the competitor will start behind 75% of the field for the remaining races in the season for example in a field of 20 cars a competitor that has won a feature event cannot start any better than 16th in the nights feature event. Competitors that have won feature events will still draw for starting positions in the heat races in order to allow them the same opportunity to earn points in their heat race.

The only division that will not use this system is the Figure 8 Division the starting lineup for the Figure 8 Division will be done by reversing the order of points.
